

STREET CLEANERS ON STRIKE

DRIVERS AND HELPERS WON'T WORK AT NIGHT.

Mayor Tells Commissioner Edwards to Let Them Go and, if Necessary, to Let Contracts—Edwards Warns Men They Won't Be Taken Back.

The drivers and helpers of the Street Cleaning Department went on strike last night as a protest against night work without increased pay. The drivers and helpers together with the sweepers and stablemen are organized as local 68 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The strike, which involves 2,500 drivers, was voted for at a secret meeting of the men on Sunday, when it was decided that the men would go out on strike at night work was discontinued.

The strike was brought about by the refusal of Commissioner Edwards of the department and Mayor Gaynor to concede the demand for the abolition of night work.

In the early part of the day a delegation headed by W. H. Ashton, organizer of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and George Preston, secretary of the Street Cleaning Drivers Union, called upon Mayor Gaynor and demanded that the night collection of garbage should be done away with unless the men of the Street Cleaning Department were paid extra for the night work. They obtained no satisfaction from the Mayor, who told them that he regarded the night removal of ashes as a public convenience. The delegation then went over to the office of Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards, where they threatened that a strike would be called at night unless the men of the department were paid extra time for night work. Mr. Edwards said that he was not in a position to promise a higher rate of pay in the way of "extras" for night work, and after the delegation left him he communicated with the Mayor, telling Mr. Gaynor of the answer he had made. In reply the Mayor sent this letter to Commissioner Edwards:

In regard to the threatened strike of the drivers and garbage collectors of your department be so good as to notify them at once by general order to strike just as soon as they see it. And see to it that not one of the strikers gets back into the city employment again. We can get along without them. It will inconvenience the householders for a few days, but they will stand it patiently. Let the contractors be resorted to if necessary. The city pays the men of your department the highest wages for the shortest hours, and in addition a pension law was passed for them last winter. If they think they can make the city conform to their dictation by striking they will find themselves grievously mistaken. The city's business has to be done as the Charter prescribes and no strike can force it to be done in any other way. The city is not in the position of a private employer and able to make any terms with its employees it sees fit.

Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards' letter sent out yesterday to the stable foremen was as follows:

I understand that there is some dissatisfaction on the part of the drivers on account of night work. I want the drivers in the Department of Street Cleaning to understand that night work will go on as usual, and any absence of men failing to go to work will be dismissed from the Department of Street Cleaning and never be allowed to return.

Stable foremen will suspend any man failing to go to work and will forward charges to the main office.

According to George Prescott, business agent of the union, the strike will extend if men are put in the places of the strikers. The men had been talking strike for weeks and also before made a threat of a strike, but the strike talk stopped after the men were told that if they quit work no one would ever be employed again.

Business Agent Prescott said last evening that the men meant business this time. He said that Mayor Gaynor was the only one who wanted night work. The men, he said, had to obey Mayor Gaynor and the Mayor wanted night work. He believed, he said, that Commissioner Edwards, if he had his own way, would abolish night work.

The Bronx has three stables of the department, Stable I, at 365 East 152d street; Stable L, at 139th street and Tiebout avenue; and Stable O, in Westchester village. Day work is still in force at the last named and it was not known last night what action the men of the stable would take.

The men at stables L and I went out at 10 o'clock, the full force of seventy men striking out at 10 o'clock, and of fifty men walking out of Stable L.

Deputy Commissioner O'Brien, in charge of the Bronx, was at Station I when the men came in at 9:30 o'clock, their usual hour. They went to the locker rooms, put on their working clothes and lined up as usual for the roll call. At the roll call Deputy Commissioner O'Brien read to the men the letters of Mayor Gaynor and Commissioner Edwards. When he had finished reading the letters, apparently in accordance with a prearranged plan, turned their backs, walked back upstairs to the locker rooms and changed back to their street clothes. Then they all marched out.

The staging of the walkout at station I was much the same. Here also the men dressed as if for work, listened to the reading of the letters from the head of the department and the Mayor, and then all hands got out of their uniforms and marched out. At neither of these stations was a word spoken by the men.

At stable C, at Seventeenth street and Avenue C, the 100 drivers answered roll call at 10 o'clock, but did not even put on their uniforms. After answering to the roll call they walked out into the street and then, after a short consultation among themselves, started off for the headquarters of the Teamsters Union, at Forty-ninth street and Eighth avenue.

Commissioner Edwards got in touch with Police Commissioner Waldo yesterday afternoon and asked that protection be given to the various stables and dump stations of the Street Cleaning Department last night in view of the threatened difficulties. Accordingly one policeman was sent to each of the stables and dump stations from the nearest police station house and instructions were sent out.

HIG WAVE HIT LINER.

Flooded an Upper Deck Writing Room and Frightened Women.

The crest of a fifty foot wave swept over the bow of the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, in yesterday, when she was in mid-ocean on Saturday morning, flooding the bridge, carrying away part of the forward rail of the bridge and breaking the port of a writing room on the promenade deck, where there were several women. Their flight from the water that roared through the port threw other women into momentary fright.

The big ship, which had been at half speed, was slowed down by the hit and the frightened ones had a chance to recover. The invasion of the sea was the culmination of a three day tempest. The blast, Capt. Hogenmuller said, was No. 1 (diamond) scale, which is seventy miles, and it was working so energetically on Tuesday that only two of the 50 cabin passengers showed up at luncheon. Capt. James Pierre Hogenmuller, who is a veteran ocean traveler, said he went as far as the dog of the saloon and saw the two heroes eating, but that he did not like the topsy-turvy of the stewards and twines of the saloon.

Among the Kronprinzessin's passengers were Dr. Paul Gans of Berlin, who will attempt to cross the Atlantic in a dirigible in March, starting from Tenerife, Canary Islands, with the hope of landing at Barbados, a distance of 2,400 miles. The dirigible is about 250 feet long, with engines that can drive her, according to Dr. Gans, about twenty-eight miles an hour. He will go to Washington to explain his plans to President Taft and ask for a warship to look out for him at the end of his flight. Two German cruisers will see him off from Tenerife.

Other passengers by the Kronprinzessin were the Princess Ghika of Rumania and her niece, Princess Zou Nauracato, who will join Prince Ghika in Now-fond on a hunting trip; Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Miss Barbara Rutherford, Beekman Withrop, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Elbridge T. Gerry, the Marquis and Marquise Pinar del Rio, Mrs. Cooper Hewitt, Whitney Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton W. Cary.

JUMBO'S CONSORT DEAD.

Carrie of the Hippodrome Was One of the First Elephants Brought Here.

Long, long ago (long may not doubt the word of a lady press agent) Jumbo, greatest of the elephant people, travelled in Mr. Barnum's caravan with Carrie, whose size was only slightly less than his. They entertained the highest regard for each other, dividing peanuts and what other good came to their hands. When in the course of time Jumbo lost his faithful Carrie never again achieved perfect cheerfulness. Moodiness and an uncertain disposition replaced the amiability for which she had been noted.

Yesterday Carrie died of pneumonia at her home in the Hippodrome. It is possible that she might have conquered the ailment had the ambition to live been there. But it was entirely lacking, as the lady press agent observed. Dainty morsels of grain mash failed to tempt her. Sweetmeats were wasted upon her melancholy. Memories of Jumbo held her to the last, said the lady press agent. At 5 A. M. yesterday she sank down, not all at once, but gradually, rolled upon her left side and breathed her last.

Her companions, Lena, Evey and Jennie, competed shrilly, awakening the entire menagerie that is housed in the cellar of the Hippodrome. Old Lena, shackled next to the corpse, touched it once with her trunk, then backed to the limit of her pocket rope, swaying nervously. Within a few weeks Carrie will rejoin Jumbo. The skeleton of that mighty elephant is set up in the American Museum of Natural History, and the museum has acquired the bones of the other elephants that may mount them on a platform next to Jumbo.

Last evening Dr. Martin J. Potter, the veterinary whose almost daily job is to cure anacondas of the stomachache, pull lions' teeth, manure bears and otherwise safeguard the health and comfort of the Hippodrome animals, embalmed Carrie.

She was one of the first elephants brought into this country. The old John Robinson circus exhibited her more than fifty years ago. Then P. T. Barnum bought her. Afterward she was the property of several circus men, passing finally to the ownership of Bill Power. Mr. Power is now out West with a troupe of performing elephants. It was desired to preserve Carrie's remains until Mr. Power returned to this city.

Dr. Potter said last night that Carrie was at least 100 years old, perhaps more. She was worth $5,000.

TO TEST TONY FAUST'S MIND.

Wife Files Bill in Court Alleging Incurable Paralysis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 8.—Application for an inquiry into the sanity of Anthony R. P. (Tony) Faust, aged 40, president of the St. Louis Catering Company and brother of Edward Faust, vice-president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, was filed in the St. Louis Probate Court to-day by his wife, who was Miss Adine Bouvier, of a St. Louis French pioneer family. They were married on August 17, 1904.

Leo Rasseur, her attorney, said to-day Tony Faust has been suffering from paralysis for four months and that his case is considered hopeless by Eastern and St. Louis mind specialists.

Tony Faust was brought back to St. Louis two weeks ago from New York, where expert treatment failed to improve him, it is stated.

Tony Faust has managed Faust's famous café, founded by his father, Tony Faust, Sr., for ten years.

Mount Holyoke Celebrates Anniversary. SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., Nov. 8.—In Mary Lyon Chapel to-day the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Mount Holyoke College was observed. Following the students to enter the chapel were the faculty and trustees, with Miss Mary Emma Woolley, president of the college, and the speaker of the day, President William H. P. Faunce of Brown University.

An interesting feature of founders' day was the reunion of the '45 year class, of which sixteen members were present.

SOCIALISM THE NEW FACTOR

PARTY SHOWS GREAT GAINS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

Candidates for Minor Offices Elected in Towns and Cities of Many States. Three Assemblies Sent to Eastern Legislatures Gain in Total Vote.

From end to end of the country the Socialist vote showed emphatic gains in Tuesday's election and Socialist candidates for minor offices were elected in many States.

The strength manifested by political socialism was perhaps the most interesting feature of an off year contest. Socialist leaders attributed their party's showing to a straight-out, natural growth. Old party managers figured differently, saying that the heavy increase was due to Republicans and Democrats who were dissatisfied with local conditions and wished to rebuke candidates who had displeased them.

Among the more important victories achieved by the Socialists were the election of three Assemblymen in the East—one in this State, one in Rhode Island and one in Massachusetts; eleven Mayors in Ohio, a Mayor in this State (Schenectady), Mayors in Utah, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Mississippi and municipal officers in many States of the West and South.

Morris Hillquit, the leader of the Socialist party in this city, said last night that the vote had doubled in fifty Eastern cities over last year and that in some instances the increase had been as much as 600 per cent.

In this country the Socialist vote jumped 42 per cent. In 1910 the leading Socialist candidate received about 15,500 votes; in 1909, 7,500. On Tuesday last the candidate for Sheriff polled nearly 22,000 votes. Morris Hillquit, who was the party's candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, received 18,284. The Socialist center has moved uptown and the Twenty-second and Thirty-third Assembly districts are now the strongholds of the party.

The victories which caused most jubilation at the Socialist headquarters here were achieved at Schenectady. The Rev. George B. Lunn, the candidate for Mayor, who swamped his Republican and Democratic opponents and took his whole ticket into office with him, put out a statement last night saying that people needn't be afraid that the Socialists would bankrupt Schenectady.

There was good news for the Socialists also in the result of the Assembly race in the Schenectady district. For the first time in the State's history a Socialist was elected to the Legislature. Herbert M. Merrill, a young man, defeated his Republican opponent by nearly 1,000. Rhode Island broke a similar record by electing a Socialist Assemblyman, Dr. James P. Nease, of North Kingstown, representative district. Dr. Nease's victory was attributed, however, to his personal popularity, as Rhode Island was one of the few States in which the Socialists made no noteworthy gains. In Massachusetts a Socialist Assemblyman was reelected, Charles H. Morrill, who has been for two terms the only member of his party in the Bay State's Legislature.

The revised returns from Ohio show that out of ninety-three Mayoralty contests the Socialists were successful in eleven, the Democrats winning forty-three and the Republicans thirty-six, with three in doubt. The complete returns elect Socialist Mayors in Canton, Barberton, Cuyahoga Falls, Salem, St. Marys, Lorain, Fostoria, Martins Ferry, Toledo, Lima and Mount Vernon, while in Kenmore the result is still in doubt.

There was an extraordinary increase made in Cleveland, where the Socialists all over the State in the Socialist vote. In many towns the Socialists elected Councilmen. In several towns and cities their candidates for Mayor were beaten by a few votes only. A Socialist was beaten in the town of Caneau by five votes only. In Columbus the Socialist candidate for Mayor made a close fight of it for second place with the Republican candidate, a Democrat gaining the election easily.

Congressman Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee made a statement last night in which he predicted that the Socialist party would poll 2,000,000 votes in 1912. They had 20,000 in 1902, when they first went into a national election.

The showing made in Pennsylvania and New York was pleasing to the Socialist leaders here. Buffalo nearly doubled its Socialist vote, while Erie, Rochester, Glens Falls, Syracuse and Amsterdam, Over in Pennsylvania the Socialists elected part of their ticket in Reading, the home of President George F. Baer of the Reading railroad.

Leaders of the party here said that the result showed that political socialism will take rank within a few years with the older parties. Morris Hillquit thought socialism had got to a point where politicians must reckon with it whether they want to or not. Charles Edward Russell agreed with Hillquit and added that the older parties would try to fool the people by organizing a fake reform party in order to cheat the Socialist party out of its earned rewards. Julius Gerber, secretary of the New York local of the Socialist party, advanced reasons for the gains made at Tuesday's election.

"One of these," he said, "is the Government's prosecution of the trusts which made plans to shut down and throw many men out of work. We have made decided progress in manufacturing towns. In Reading, Pa., we carried practically all of the ticket. We carried Newcastle easily. It was the best showing all over the country that we ever made."

TUNIS ARABS EXCITED.

Serious Hoodlums in Clash With Italians. Rome Calls on France.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. TUNIS, Nov. 8.—The Arab population here is in an ugly mood and "military patriots" have cleared the mosques. Italians, armed with revolvers and knives, attacked a group of Arabs in the Baboussa quarter to-day, and there were numbers of killed and wounded on both sides.

The Italian consulate is strongly guarded. Rome, Nov. 9.—The Government expressed diplomatically yesterday the hope that France would fulfil her duty in protecting the 120,000 Italian subjects in Tunis. The French Ambassador has replied that France will do its duty.

Minister of Foreign Affairs Giolitti has telegraphed to the French press to protest against the accusations of cruelty at Tripoli.

GISS WOMEN REGISTERED.

Socialists and Good Government Forces Fight to Bring Out Los Angeles Vote.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8.—With the fate of Socialism in Los Angeles as the incentive to stir them to prodigious efforts, registrars working for the Socialists and the Good Government forces had registered 60,488 women when their work ceased this evening.

One more day remains, and it is possible that 75,000 women will be registered by this time. The total registration is now 150,288.

The fight for control of the municipality is taking on bitterness that is becoming acute. The Socialists charge an alliance of "Big Business" against them. Their only newspaper support in the daily field is given by the Record.

Gen. H. G. Otis, owner of the Times, William R. Hearst, owner of the Examiner, and Edwin T. Earl, owner of the Tribune and the Express, all of whom have been enemies for years, are aligned against Socialism.

The Socialists met in the primaries. The election takes place December 5.

SOCIALISTS WIN NEW CASTLE.

Elect Mayor, Eleven Councilmen and Two Assessors.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—The election yesterday was a great victory for the Socialist party in Lawrence county. In New Castle the Socialists elected the Mayor, eleven Councilmen and two City Assessors. In Wheatland they swept the entire ticket from Burgess down, and in Pymatung township they elected five school directors.

The fight in this city was a hard one, and Walter V. Tyler, the Socialist candidate, had less than 500 majority. The vote for Mayor stood: Tyler, Socialist, 1,708; Gilkey, Independent, 1,228; and Reynolds, Republican, 1,027.

Three members of Select Council and eight of Common Council were elected by the Socialists, and the two vacancies on the Board of City Assessors will be filled by members of that party.

FOSS PROMISES TO QUIT.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Also Says This Term Is His Last.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Massachusetts and Boston Republicans heard some good news to-day. First they learned that Gov. Foss will not be a candidate for that office again, and secondly, Mayor Fitzgerald announced that he will be satisfied to retire after serving his full term of four years.

There is a difference at the State House about the Foss retirement. This morning he was reported to have announced positively that at the end of the coming year he would retire from politics and devote himself to his private business.

Gov. Foss's denial of this in the afternoon, saying it was unauthorized. Secretary Holman said that while Gov. Foss might not try for a third term he absolutely denied that he was out of politics, which means that he may be a candidate for United States Senator, Vice-President or President.

Gov. Foss's plurality is about 8,000. The press tabulations do not agree, but he reports that he has above 8,000. The entire Republican ticket with the exception of Frothingham was successful. One branch of the Legislature is more strongly Republican than in 1910. In the House the Republicans will have 142 members, as against 128 last year, while the Senate remains the same, 26 Republicans and 14 Democrats.

Charles H. Morrill of Haverhill was the only Socialist elected to the House. He succeeded himself. The Democrats lost 16 members in the House and 2 seats are yet to be decided.

The commission form of government suffered defeat in Chelsea and Cambridge yesterday, but won in Lowell and Lawrence.

MISTAKES WON IN MARYLAND.

Errors of Democratic Voters Elected Republican Governor.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—Unofficial returns from all of the counties in the State show that Phillips Lee Goldsborough, the Republican candidate for Governor, was elected by 2,700 majority, but both his running mates on the ticket are defeated. Harrington, Democrat, for Comptroller, winning out by about 1,000 and Poe for Attorney-General by the reverse.

Goldborough primarily owes his election to a law which was designed to worry the negro voters in the lower counties. This provides that a single mistake invalidates the entire ballot. It has cost the Republicans thousands of votes, but this is the first time it has hit the Democrats.

In Baltimore city an independent candidate for Judge of the Orphans Court used the party designation of "progressive Democrat." The voters were to be marking their ballots about 3,000 Democrats, paying no attention to the names, marked next to "Democrat" and made the mistake of marking for four.

The Democrats had advised their election officials to throw all such ballots out. The Democratic officials protested against throwing them out, but the supervisors of elections instructed them to comply with the law, and over his protest they cast the Democratic candidate his election.

GIFTS E. A. ABBEY PLANNED

WILL DEPEND ON WIFE'S DEATH BEFORE HIM.

But She Survives and Gets All—May Carry Out His Project by Which Corcoran Gallery Will Have the Pick of London's Royal Academy Exhibition.

The will of Edwin Austin Abbey, the American artist, who died in London on August 1, leaves the bulk of a large estate to establish a fund for the purchase of paintings for the American nation, upon condition that his wife, who was Mary Gertrude Mead, had died before him or at the same time. Mrs. Abbey is still living and is now at the home of her father, Frederick Mead, at 1 West Fifty-sixth street. An intimate friend of the artist and his widow said last night that Mrs. Abbey is likely to carry out her husband's wishes at some future time.

The will was filed for probate yesterday by the law firm of Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett. The petition accompanying the will stated that Mr. Abbey left personal property valued at over $10,000, but no real property in this country. His estate is said to be worth upward of $1,000,000. In case his wife survived him the artist left all his property to her.

The testator said that if his wife predeceased him bequests of $500 each were to go to several servants and $1,000 each to his brother, William Burling Abbey, and the latter's two children. His sister, Jane Kiple Toomey, was to have an annuity of $1,200. Alfred Parsons, the Royal Academician, was to have an annuity of $1,000.

The will also directed that Mr. Abbey's London house, Chelsea Lodge, was to go to the members of the Royal Academy of Arts for the use of the president of the Royal Academy as his residence. All the furnishings, including a bronze bust by Onslow Ford, R. A., and a portrait in oils of Mrs. Abbey drawn by Mr. Abbey, together with all the furniture and plate, were to go to the Royal Academy with the house.

Mr. Abbey directed that his library at Morgan Hall, Fairfield, Gloucestershire, England, be given to the members of the Academy and removed to Chelsea Lodge, or if the members so desired, be distributed in the rooms of the students. The will provided a trust fund of $30,000 for the maintenance of Chelsea Lodge.

To the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York Mr. Abbey left all of his original drawings, 133 in number, made to illustrate the comedies of Shakespeare, and also his original color designs for illustrating the tragedies of Shakespeare which are now in the custody of Harper & Bros. The will also left to the museum his painting "Hamlet" and the painting of his wife's mother, Mary E. Mead, by J. S. Sargent.

The will left to the Boston Art Museum Mr. Abbey's original drawings to illustrate Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," and to the National Gallery of British Art he left his painting "The Crusaders Sighting Jerusalem."

In case of Mrs. Abbey's death before him the testator provided that if her consent had been obtained all his right to the property known as the Dryden tract, owned by her father, Frederick Mead, be sold and the proceeds invested in "safe and sound British or American securities, or mortgages secured by New York city real estate."

"Having had long experience of the care and intelligence with which the business of the Royal Academy is conducted by its members," the testator says, he gives his residuary estate to create the Mead-Abbey Fund, to be expended in the purchase of the best works of art from the annual exhibition of the Royal Academy.

"Such works of art so purchased to be forwarded at the expense of said fund to the Corcoran Gallery at Washington to be the property of the United States of America."

The will directs that a label be affixed to each painting stating that it was purchased by the Mead-Abbey Fund.

CHICAGO'S OLDEST MAN DEAD.

Fernando Jones Goes Out at 91 After One Day's Illness.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Fernando Jones died to-day at his home, 1834 Prairie avenue. He was Chicago's oldest inhabitant, and for years the most picturesque person among the survivors of the city's pioneer days.

Although 91 years old, this vigorous man, who as a youth of 15 ventured into the Indian infested region that is now Chicago, did not confess defeat in his struggle against advancing age until yesterday morning. Then he gave in to the advice of physicians and attendants and went to bed, where he stayed for the twenty-four hours until death released him.

AEROPLANE TO HUNT WOLVES.

Texas Cattlemen Order Machine to Protect Their Herds.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 8.—Ten ranchmen owning 150,000 acres in Pecos, Brewster and El Paso counties stocked with 200,000 cattle have invested in an aeroplane, not for pleasure but to rid their lands of the wolves, panthers and mountain lions which kill cattle.

They estimate that it cost them $100 a month for men to hunt the wolves, not to mention the thousands of dollars worth of cattle killed. Some of the cattlemen employ hunters by the month to kill wolves, while others pay bounties of from $15 to $25 for scalps.

Agencies for aeroplanes have been working on the proposition and the first machine has been ordered and will be built especially for this use. It will carry two men and it is planned to penetrate the wild country and despatch beasts of prey with guns from a safe distance in the air.

GOT $255 WITH OLD PAPERS.

Salvation Army Hunts Up Mrs. Payson's Money and Gives It Back.

Major Wallace Winchell, who has charge of the Salvation Army Industrial Home at 254 Erie street, Jersey City, received a telephone message from the Fourth precinct station late on Tuesday night that Mrs. T. G. Payson of 281 Clerk street had given the home's salvage men a lot of old papers in which were two envelopes containing $255 in bills.

"We would like to have a search made for the money," said the desk lieutenant. "Send a detective down and I'll turn out my men to help him," replied Major Winchell.

Detective Sergeant Tom Collins went to the home with a cotton hook, and about twenty men were set to work sorting over waste paper which had been delivered by the collectors. After a long search Collins's hook turned up the lost envelopes, and Mrs. Payson, who watched the proceedings, gave an exclamation of joy. The money was found intact.

Major Winchell was just as delighted as Mrs. Payson over the recovery of the money. He said last night that he always keeps wagonloads of paper and other things separate so that lost articles may be readily found if housekeepers notify him that they have unintentionally given away something that they wanted to keep.

BEATTIE IN THE DEATH HOUSE.

Richmond Wife Murderer Will Die in the Chair on November 24.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 8.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., who is under sentence to die in the electric chair on November 24 for wife murder, was conveyed from the city jail to the State penitentiary this morning, where he is the only occupant of murderers' row, a few steps from the electric chair.

The prisoner greeted Supt. Wood of the penitentiary cheerfully and went to the death chamber with the same smile that characterized him during the days of the trial at Chesterfield.

A guard was placed over Beattie, who was permitted to take a few simple articles into his cramped quarters.
